Notes from Director Iowa Mwilambwe

What a year 2009-2010 has been. We hope students, faculty and staff enjoyed all the programs and services we offered during the past two semesters.

We brought you more than 120 programs during the year, from first run movies such as Star Trek and Sherlock Holmes to popular artists such as Common Folk and Cloudchase.

Rios Golden Cut Salons and The UPS Store opened in early spring semester and renovations in several areas made the UC more comfortable for to you socialize, dine, learn, and meet.

In efforts to improve the UC, we recently collected surveys sent to 3,500 randomly selected students who were asked to assess various programs and services in the UC. If you received this survey and completed it, thank you for your feedback. We are in the process of assessing survey results and will use the feedback we received to continue to improve our programs and services.

This fall more changes are on the way. We plan to offer a testing preparation services center and an art gallery. We will also be creating an information center separate from our retail sales operation to better serve you.

If you have a comment or suggestion, please feel free to send me an e-mail. Enjoy the summer.

A New Home for The UPS Store

The UPS Store is expanded services and moving to its permanent home in the UC, just inside the Fiesta Dancers entrance in the space previously used by Events Management & Conference Services.

The new space, open in mid-may, features a second register and weigh station for faster service. The store also now features a large-format printer to assist customers with banners, posters, and signs. Students, faculty or staff interested in on-campus delivery for personal mail can now take advantage of one of 660 mailboxes available for rent. Other new services include passport photos and an expanded assortment of shipping and school supplies.

As an added convenience, The UPS Store's customers can upload their print and duplication jobs directly to the store via the Web and then pick up the job once it is finished. To access the "Web-to-print" feature, users should visit The UPS Store document services web site and create an account. Users may also use an account created at another UPS Store to log-in and submit a print job.

The UPS Store can also assist with any packing or shipping needs this summer with its moving box sale. From now until August 30, 2010, all moving box prices will be reduced 25-50%. The UPS store carries a variety of box sizes to help you get organized and make a smooth transition to off-campus life. For more details please stop by the store or visit the store's website.

Earth Week Info Fair Draws Crowd

UTSA's inaugural Earth Week ended with a highly successful information fair in the UC main corridor on April 22, 2010. More than 30 community organizations, student organizations, and UTSA offices were on hand to educate the UTSA community on various Earth Day topics.

Fifty mountain laurel trees, provided by San Antonio Parks and Recreation, were the most popular giveaway at the fair. Participants had to write down where they would be planting the gave out 16 dozen cupcakes as people came to their table to share which sustainable food topics were of most interest. Nearly 300 visitors received stamps from at least 10 info fair booths and earned a free Earth Week organic cotton t-shirt. Several fuel efficient cars were also on display courtesy of Red McCombs Auto Group.

The University Center hosted the info fair in collaboration with many different campus organizations.

Think Campus Tech for Dept. Needs

As the semester comes to an end, the University Center wishes to remind departments, faculty and staff that the Campus Technology Store is available for any technology purchase needs.

The Campus Technology Store has many popular software offerings, accessories, peripherals and Apple products in stock and ready to go at the time of purchase. Other items are available within a few days.

Staff is on hand to consult departments on PC configurations and Adobe departmental licensing. All software and hardware is priced for the educational market. An onsite service area can quickly provide diagnostic and repair assistance should the need arise.

is an authorized Apple Campus Store and carries a wide selection of Apple products including the MacBook, MacBook Pro, MacBook Air, Mac Mini, Time Capsule, iPad and all iPod models in a variety of colors and storage capacities. All Apple hardware is offered at educational pricing and departments can take advantage of lower than education pricing on MacBooks, MacBook Pros and Apple software.

Departments can pay by Interdepartmental Transfer Voucher (IDT), purchase order, or procard. Individual purchases of Microsoft and Adobe software require UTSA identification and can be purchased with cash, debit cards or major credit cards.

The Campus Technology Store is next to Starbucks in the University Center at the Main Campus and in the Durango Building at the Downtown Campus. For a listing of available products, pricing, store hours and contact information, visit the Campus Technology Store website.

"The UC used the info fair to highlight the new hydration station that enables our guests to quickly fill up a water container with fresh, filtered, sanitized water," said Iowa Mwilambwe, University Center director.

The hydration station is located just inside the UC north entrance near the Fiesta Dancers statue. Many UC guests have expressed interest in the program and UC administration is currently evaluating other locations for hydration stations.

A committee will be organized in December for next year's Earth Week events. Earth Week 2011 committee meetings will begin in January. If you are interested in joining the committee or have any ideas for next year's events, please contact Jared Jones.
